Hello,

my name is Rainer Dango, co-shareholder of DANGO & DIENENTHAL, today a German plant and engineering group of companies with subsidiaries in many countries, including India. We mainly engineer and manufacture special equipment for the Steel and Aluminum Industry. I run a family-owned company, founded in 1865 by August Dango, my grand-grand-grand father, and Louis Dienenthal, as a non-ferrous foundry, in fifth generation now. I was active as Managing Director and responsible for the operational business for more than three decades.

Mukul Chaudhry and his wonderful family as well as the professional team behind, I know for more than 25 years now. He is co-owner of what was formerly known as CHAUDHRY HAMMER WORKS (CHW), which is today an internationally respected, leading Open Die Forge with Hammers and modern Presses as well as a Ringrolling, heat treatment plants and machining facilities in a good size. We became very good friends, based on trust and both of our reliability over the years. DANGO & DIENENTHAL, as the market leader in its industry, has delivered the most modern handling equipment, like Mobile and Railbound Forging as well as Transport Manipulators, ranging from 2 tonnes, working at the hammers, up to 30 tons carrying capacity, working at modern open die forging presses.

CHAUDHRY FORGE, as the company is named today, is a very reliable business partner and trustworthy organization with long-term, loyal employees and well experienced engineers, who gained exceptional expertise of their core business over the decades past by interest and hard work.

We trust each other very much, as you can do too ! CHAUDHRY FORGE is a most responsive, flexible as well as financially stable partner in our industry, which has become more and more challenging over the years. We, as DANGO & DIENENTHAL and me personally, Rainer Dango, are proud to be a vital part of the amazing journey of CHAUDHRY FORGE ! I am wishing us all good luck 🍀 for many years and generations to come.
